Design and Delivery Ingredients

- Employ a mix of staff connected to the local community and schools
- Encourage engaging learning in literacy, math, and STEAM
- Include active, enrichment experiences, such as in the arts and sports, coding and robotic clubs, service-learning, college and workforce exploration, entrepreneurial experiences, and apprenticeships
- Provide positive adult supervision and relationships
- Offer wellness activities and address food access

School-community partnerships provide a vehicle for aligning services and leaning on and utilizing the expertise, resources, and capacity that exist in multiple sectors.
Partnerships require commitment to a shared vision

- Shared professional development to ensure evidence-based practices are implemented across agencies and locations
- Delivery of wraparound services and youth enrichment
- Space sharing to expand opportunities for learning and engagement
- Shared staff to maximize capacity and tap into varied expertise
- Coordinated services to meet youth and families’ economic, health, food, and other needs
Strategies for Success
Key Considerations

• How can we bring supports and services to where the students already are?
• Look to programs that offer a variety of enriching opportunities
• How can you maximize the skills, expertise, and capacity of multiple sectors?
• How can we extend these partnerships into the school year and beyond?
Aligning Workforces

Can districts support bringing more certified teachers to community-based organizations to target interventions for students within camp environments?
Expanding Access Through Transportation

How can districts utilize existing transportation infrastructure to increase access to summer learning opportunities? Consider:

- Supporting student transportation to and from summer camps with community-based partners
- Providing transportation from summer school to community-based summer learning partners
- Extending partnerships through the school year
Shared or Creative Spaces

- Expand school-based programming to 5:00 or 6:00pm to meet family needs by bringing in community-based partner to manage enrichment
- Bring programming and intervention to where the students are
- Think outside the box/building, consider partners like the STE(A)M Truck
Shared Professional Development

Can districts include summer learning and afterschool professionals in their staff development and learning (including academic interventions) for improved and aligned services across spaces?
Supporting Mental Health

Can districts support expanding mental health services in school-based and community-based programs this summer?

What the Research Says
Comprehensive Programming

Comprehensive programming is critical. Young people will not see short-term gains or long-term thriving unless we ensure that we are building on their strengths and fully meeting their needs.
What Matters?

- Context Matters
- Adults Matter
- Relationships Matter
- Safe & Supportive Environments Matter
- Attendance & Engagement Matter
- Learning AND Development Matter (and are not separate!)
Forthcoming Toolkit

American Institutes for Research will release a toolkit that can help afterschool and summer programs ensure their policies and practices are grounded in research, driving toward the evidence, and that they are doing this in support of the young people, families, and communities they serve.
